

Patrick Ryan is a career employee with the Tennessee Department of Correction and currently serves as the Deputy Warden at the Tennessee Prison for Women. As a Deputy Warden Mr. Ryan is responsible of the overall security operations as well as supervising the majority of other support services required to operate a state correctional facility. Patrick is a graduate of the Tennessee Government Executive Institute and part of the inaugural alliance of LEAD Tennessee. Patrick also serves on two working groups with the National Institute of Justice relating to ballistic and stab resistant body armor.